

PRESS RELEASE

GUWAHATI, JUNE 22, 2020

THE 7TH ENORTH EAST AWARD 2019-2020 CONCLUDED WITH 11 WINNERS AND 12 SPECIAL MENTIONS (RUNNERS UP) AS INNOVATIVE DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS OF NORTH EAST INDIA

With the theme of the event plenary 'Sustaining the Pursuit of UN SDGs Post in Covid-19 North East India', the 7th edition of the eNorth East Award 2019-20 was concluded on June 20, 2020, as culmination of months of nomination process, and three days of virtual jury (due to Covid-19) for selecting the best sustainable development practices of North East India. The final event (held virtually first time in the history of the programme due to Covid-19) declared 23 sustainable development projects (11 winners and 12 special mentions) of North East India as winners and special mentions (runners up) in as many as 10 categories including – Access to Public Schemes, citizen services and e-governance services; Agriculture & Rural Development; Biodiversity and Sustainable Development; Livelihood and Income Generation; Education and Learning; and Health and Sanitation. As a Chief Guest, Mr. K. Moses Chalai, IAS, Secretary of the North Eastern Council (NEC), graced the occasion along with other dignitaries.

In this keynote during the Plenary Session, Mr. Chalai highlighted the fact that Covid-19 is both a challenge as well as opportunity. While there may be multipronged challenges due to Covid-19 in almost all sectors of society and economy, yet it has also forced people, institutions and governments to think differently, find low cost and alternative solutions to deal with the challenges now and for coming days, Mr. Chalai added. The North Eastern Council (NEC), in a new avatar, is constantly working under the guidance of Government of India and the Home Ministry, to take up major development works in all eight States of the region. He highlighted the need to generate more local entrepreneurship in the region with focus on improving transportation in the region to reduce cost of ferrying goods and services. There are many avenues for local entrepreneurs that the region must look into and NEC is working to support Start-ups in this direction. Mr. Chalai also stressed on the fact that North East India and South East Asia can converge more on trade and economy and benefit from each other with examples of Bangladesh as a case. The North East region should look at low cost technology to support in days to come. The region lost out to 3 industrial revolutions and it cannot afford to lose out in this digital revolution.

In his remarks, Dr. Nitya Nanda, Director, Council for Social Development (CSD), New Delhi, highlighted the fact that the region does not need big ticket investment as this is impossible due to underdeveloped status of the region. Instead, the focus should be on small scale investment, entrepreneurship development locally based on local resources, and concentrate on small and medium businesses and go for import substitution in potential areas of fishery, bamboo, agriculture produce and others. Covid-19 should be a blessing in disguise and efforts should be directed towards this self-sufficiency through local skills development. The region still majorly lacks in infrastructure support system including health and education with 0.5 hospital beds per 1000 people. Further, without women empowerment, sustainable development is not possible, Dr. Nanda stressed.

Dr Shiladitya Chatterjee, former bureaucrat and now Advisor at Centre for Sustainable Development Goal Centre, Government of Assam, stressed the need for ensuring food security, social protection for all, and correct health inadequacies, reduce inequalities and build liveable cities as these are great learning lessons from Covid-19 in the region. The challenge is more adverse as most States in the North East falls in adverse categories in NITI Ayog's SDG Index and must work towards achieving positive outcomes. Covid 19 has exposed our massive vulnerabilities with migrant workers; very large daily wage earners; large numbers in informal employment who do not have any social protection. India has ample food in its public granaries yet much of the poor do not have adequate access. Affordability of nutritious food remains a problem, malnutrition in the general population especially children (one third are underweight) remains very high, while the relief packages announced should meet most families' cereal requirements, their food needs go beyond cereals; and the public distribution system (PDS) suffers from inadequacy of coverage especially in urban areas and lack of portability of ration cards making access by stranded migrants problematical. Covid-19 tells us to correct health inadequacies and ensure health for all (UN SDG Goal 3). Another glaring reality exposed by Covid-19 are the slums with unsanitary conditions causing the pandemic to grow and going forward slums must be replaced with decent and affordable housing for all urban dwellers.

In her remarks, Dr. Monisha Behal, CEO, North East Network (NEN), stressed upon the fact that achieving Gender Equality (Goal no. 5 of UN SDG Goals) cuts across all sectors and must be addressed in convergence with other critical factors of empowerment. Two key issues that Dr. Monisha stressed upon was on supporting and taking care of the frontline health workers including ASHAs and the need for fiscal efficacy in programmes meant for pandemics like Covid-19.

According to Ms. Supriya Khound, Project Officer, United Nations Development Programme (North East Regional Office), Covid-19 has challenged our societies whether we should look beyond traditional way of doing things or innovate. UNDP has come out with innovative tools and resources for NGOs and for MSME support that could be effective to reorient works and strategies for these agencies to perform better, post Covid-19.

Mr. Manoj Das, Managing Director, the North Eastern Regional Agricultural Marketing Corporation Ltd (NERAMAC), a Central Public Sector Enterprise & Head, Advisory and Consultancy and Business Facilitation Departments, North Eastern Development Finance Corporation Ltd., stressed on the need to reorient and reinvent on agriculture produce and marketing in a PPP mode. Mr. Ritupon Gogoi, Executive Director, Foundation for Social Transformation, Guwahati, focused on data as power dynamics and importance of development communication and planning at community level as critical factors post Covid-19 in development. Dr. Otojit Kshetrimayum, Fellow (Faculty) and Coordinator of the Centre for North East India in V.V. Giri National Labour Institute, Ministry of Labour & Employment, Govt. of India, focused on self-employment and areas like gig workers (platform workers) as new areas of focus in North East India. Dr. Monica Banerjee, Program Director, ICCO India focused on need to look at convergence and collaboration in a post Covid-19 North East to deal with impending challenges. Mr. Raju Sharma, CSR Head, InterGlobe Aviation Ltd (Indigo) stressed on focusing on sustaining livelihood and income of vulnerable groups and communities based on the region's local resources, skills and capacities and Indigo CSR is working in that direction. In his introductory remarks, Dr. Syed Kazi, Chairman of the eNorth East Award Platform, highlighted the fact that Covid-19 has exposed the North East Region on many frontiers in health, governance, systems and citizen services and therefore, the need shall be to reorient the priorities and strategies to deal with key UN SDG goals and pursuit in each State of the region.
